Preface:

The schools and colleges are the centres of knowledge building. The process begins from primary to higher level in a systematic manner where teaching, learning and evaluation are the integral part. The teaching, learning and evaluation processes can be effective if the institutions with similar aims and objectives come closer to share information with each other objectively for better growth and transformation. Further, for the growth and upliftment of the society as a whole, the educational institutions within a catchment area should come closer and work together to generate a knowledge friendly environment. If every educational institutions of a particular place collaborate with each other for greater interest of the society then the society as well as the students will become cognizant and benefited. The long lasting outcome would be expected that the upcoming generation will prosper and conscious citizens will come into being. In addition to this, through collaboration the institutions will also be able to identify the shortcomings and drawbacks when someone from outside is integrated and by this way solution or remedial measures can be found out. Thus, it is very pertinent for educational institutions to collaborate with each other objectively. With this holistic approach and attitude, the Nazira Girls H.S. School and Nazira College intended to collaborate with each other for the improvement of its students, society and larger community.
